

1,525
participants

Enhancing access to quality healthcare, particularly primary and preventive care, by improving the supply and distribution of healthcare professionals through community/academic educational partnerships.

Pipeline programs expose students to health careers and develop intent to pursue post-secondary education in primary healthcare professions.

987
grades 7-16 participants

345 from disadvantaged backgrounds

818 from rural backgrounds

173 underrepresented minorities

Clinical training

improves readiness, willingness, and ability of health professions trainees to serve in primary care, and rural and underserved community settings.

facilitated 100
rotations

102

health professions students placed in rural and underserved locations

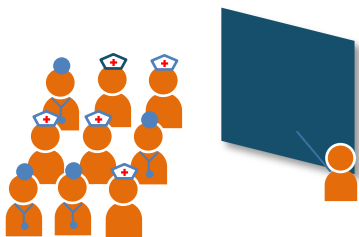

- 8 medical students
- 90 nursing student
- 4 dental hygiene students

Training sites used include:

- 24 primary care setting
- 9 located in a medically underserved community
- 18 located in a rural area

Continuing education programs address key issues in health professional shortage areas by providing health professionals with access to resources that support practice, reduce professional isolation, disseminate best practices, and improve quality of healthcare for medically underserved communities and health disparities populations.

118
job shadow experiences

218
continuing education participants
(101 employed in medically underserved communities)